

Shot Through the Night

Objections were avoided, speaking quietly
Illusions she exploited, so unknowingly
When I reached out it unfolded, rejection silently
Shot through the night my friend it
Shot through the night when –
When she turned out the light

The dusk wind had abated, left us dark and cold
So much was left unstated, so much left untold
When I asked what I'd created, her words were clear and bold they Shot through the night again yeah they
Shot through the night when –
When she said it ain't right

CHORUS So I shot through the night again
Running so fast my friend
I thought it was love but then
The tears never end
No the pain never ends

Long distances unheeded, my breath was coming hard
This was what I needed, no fears could run this far
Well my marathon completed, at midnight in a bar, doing
Shots through the night again, yeah
Shots through the night when –
I could see through the spite

CHORUS Then I'll shoot through the night again
Running so fast my friend
I thought it was love but then
The tears never end
No the pain never ends

A final try of pleading, of talking soft then loud
A consequence of needing, of that I wasn't proud
But the words began repeating, so I shouted to the crowd
A shot in the night, how strange, yeah
A shot in the night, might change
My pain in the end

CHORUS A shot rang through the night, in the end
After running so far from my friend
I thought it was love but then
The tears never end
No the pain never ends

A shot through the night, in the end
Running so fast my friend
I thought it was love but then
The tears never end
... the pain never ends
